THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER

By Francis Scott Key

Oh, say can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there.
O say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

On the shore, dimly seen through the mists of the deep,
Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze, o'er the towering steep,
As it fitfully blows, now conceals, now discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam,
In full glory reflected now shines on the stream:
'Tis the star-spangled banner! O long may it wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

And where is that band who so vauntingly swore
That the havoc of war and the battle's confusion
A home and a country should leave us no more?
Their blood has wiped out their foul footsteps' pollution.
No refuge could save the hireling and slave
From the terror of flight, or the gloom of the grave:
And the star-spangled banner in triumph doth wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Oh! thus be it ever, when freemen shall stand
Between their loved homes and the war's desolation!
Blest with victory and peace, may the heaven-rescued land
Praise the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation.
Then conquer we must, for our cause it is just,
And this be our motto: "In God is our trust."
And the star-spangled banner forever shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!

LIFT EVERY VOICE AND SING

By James Weldon Johnson

Lift every voice and sing, till earth and Heaven ring,
Ring with the harmonies of liberty;
Let our rejoicing rise, high as the listening skies,
Let it resound loud as the rolling sea.
Sing a song full of the faith that the dark past has taught us,
Sing a song full of the hope that the present has brought us;
Facing the rising sun of our new day begun,
Let us march on till victory is won.

Stony the road we trod, bitter the chastening rod,
Felt in the days when hope unborn had died;
Yet with a steady beat, have not our weary feet,
Come to the place for which our fathers sighed?
We have come over a way that with tears has been watered,
We have come, treading our path through the blood of the slaughtered;
Out from the gloomy past, till now we stand at last
Where the white gleam of our bright star is cast.

God of our weary years, God of our silent tears,
Thou Who hast brought us thus far on the way;
Thou Who hast by Thy might, led us into the light,
Keep us forever in the path, we pray.
Lest our feet stray from the places, our God, where we met Thee.
Lest our hearts, drunk with the wine of the world, we forget Thee.
Shadowed beneath Thy hand, may we forever stand,
True to our God, true to our native land.

Allen and Lynn Turner Commencement Poetry Competition

THIS WAY TO ARRIVALS AND DEPARTURES

I plug my jadeite lamp into the little brightness blue-lake sky
touching down street level
& color-loose

& I am eyebright
in prearranged snow

new little bedside
of a dozen eggs
sleeping bichon
bitter tablets for headache little midnight mountains silhouette

I can brush my teeth in the mirror before bed and be all foamy and mint sleep like an afterimage of the southland

I keep tucked away in my carry-on

BRUCE MAU
Designer

A leading world visionary, innovator, designer, and author, Bruce Mau is committed to creative, healthy, ecological, and economic abundance. Informed by twenty-five years of studio experience in design innovation and collaboration with some of the world's leading artists, institutions, and businesses, Mau has made the simple commitment to connect his life and work to education and human development.

Mau is Co-Founder of Massive Change Network. This new initiative is committed to developing purposeful projects in education, health, leadership, and security. And, motivated by the certainty that the future demands a new breed of designer, Mau founded the Institute without Boundaries, an innovative, studio-based postgraduate program in collaboration with George Brown College, Toronto. Here Mau and his students created the groundbreaking exhibition and best-selling book, Massive Change (Phaidon) – a project that declared, “Massive Change is not about the world of design; it’s about the design of the world.”

In addition, Mau is an author and designer of award-winning books including LifeStyle (Phaidon), S,M,L,XL (The Monacelli Press) in collaboration with Rem Koolhaas, and the iconic and celebrated ZONE BOOKS series. Bruce Mau’s most recent book, The Third Teacher (Abrams), which he and his studio co-authored with OWP/P Architects and VS Furniture, presents a compendium of ways that design can transform teaching and learning for students, families, and teachers all to thrive in tomorrow’s world.

Bruce Mau’s design philosophies and practical applications are featured in the recently released book GLIMMER: How Design Can Transform Your Life and Maybe the World by Warren Berger (Penguin Press). According to Berger, Mau seeks to prove that the power of design is boundless, and has the capacity to bring positive change on a global scale. “A new world is evolving. It is driven by purpose and committed to sustainable human development. The new world inspires and demands a new approach. Our future is no longer about selling more stuff to more people – it’s about understanding our potential as citizens and designing and producing shared prosperity and abundance.” Bruce Mau’s purpose is to contribute the most that one possibly can to this new world.

Distinguished award highlights from Mau’s career include the Global Creative Leadership Award from the Louise Blouin Foundation; the AIGA Gold Medal for Communication Design; The Bill and Stephanie Sick Distinguished Professor at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago; and Distinguished Fellow, Segal Design Institute, Robert R. RYAN SCHREIBER

Arts Entrepreneur

In 1995, Ryan Schreiber founded Pitchfork, the popular online music publication, in the basement of his parents' Minneapolis home. Inspired by zine culture, college radio, and the dire state of commercial alternative radio, the nineteen-year-old Schreiber saw a need for a fresh perspective on music. His hope was to create an impassioned and fiercely honest critical resource for a new generation of music fans, and to help struggling independent musicians reach the wider audience denied them by the mainstream music media.

Today, The New York Times calls Pitchfork "the most prominent brand in online music journalism," and it has a readership of more than 3 million monthly visitors. The site is commonly credited with the early discovery of many of the independent music world's most lauded and successful acts, including LCD Soundsystem, Animal Collective, and the Arcade Fire, who were awarded the 2011 Grammy for Album of the Year.

Pitchfork has also spawned several successful offshoots such as Chicago's acclaimed Pitchfork Music Festival, the innovative online video channel Pitchfork.tv, DIY music blog collective Altered Zones, and most recently, the #Offline events series in New York and Austin, Texas.

Schreiber now employs more than three dozen staff between Pitchfork's Chicago, Brooklyn, and Los Angeles offices, and, true to his original vision, his company remains entirely independently owned and operated. He has twice been featured in Time Magazine's annual Time 100 poll of the world's most influential people.

2011 ALUMNI OF THE YEAR AWARDS

Each year, the college recognizes alumni who have made outstanding contributions to their fields and embody the mission of the institution. Awardees receive a uniquely crafted certificate that portrays a captured ray of light, symbolizing their energy and spark of creativity.

May their accomplishments inspire you, the Class of 2011, to strive for greatness along your chosen paths.

DAVID CROMER

Theater ('86)

David Cromer is a freelance theatre director currently based in New York City. He attended Columbia College Chicago in the 1980s, then taught acting and directing here until 2008.

On Broadway, Cromer directed the 2009 revival of Brighton Beach Memoirs. Off-Broadway, he directed When the Rain Stops Falling (Lincoln Center Theatre), Our Town and Orson's Shadow (Barrow Street Theatre), and Adding Machine (The Minnetta Lane).

In Chicago, where he spent most of his career, Cromer's credits include A Streetcar Named Desire, Picnic, The Price, and Oscar Remembered (Writers Theatre); Cherrywood, Mojo, and The Hot L Baltimore (Mary-Arrchie Theatre); A Perfect Mendacity, The Dazzle, Orson's Shadow, and Golden Boy (Steppenwolf); and, with Marc Grapey, The Cider House Rules (Famous Door).

Cromer has received 4 Jeff Awards for his direction, 3 Lortel Awards, 2 Obies, 2 After Darks, and was named a 2010 MacArthur Fellow. Currently he is directing Broadway revivals of The House of Blue Leaves (with Ben Stiller, Edie Falco, and Jennifer Jason Leigh) and Sweet Bird of Youth (with Nicole Kidman).

JOHN HELLERMAN

Marketing Communication: Public Relations ('95)

John Hellerman is a partner and co-founder of Hellerman Baretz Communications, a strategic communications agency representing many of the world's leading law firms, consulting firms, and financial services companies.

Named 2008 Agency Executive of the Year by PR News, Hellerman is a well-respected thought-leader, and he helps his clients own their markets by consistently providing new ideas and superior strategic advice. Dubbed a "PR whiz" and "top media relations pro" by both Law Practice Management and PR Week magazines, Hellerman has placed stories in nearly every major media outlet, including The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, Financial Times, 60 Minutes, and Nightline, as well as dozens of key business trade publications.

Hellerman has consulted numerous professional service firms during mergers, and he has advised attorneys and executives on effective ways to manage their high-profile, high-stakes, litigation public relations needs. He has planned communications strategies for clients embroiled in Congressional investigations, shareholder suits, numerous intellectual property and product liability cases, international trade disputes, high-profile election contests, international RICO suits, government and NGO scandals, and several landmark United States Supreme Court cases, as well as many other matters in which there was significant corporate involvement and corporate reputations were at stake.

NOBUKO OYABU

Photography ('95)

Nobuko Oyabu is a freelance photographer living in Arlington, VA. After working for daily newspapers for seven years, Oyabu dedicated herself to her personal project, STAND: Faces of Rape & Sexual Abuse Survivors, her freelance work, and being a mom.

Through her highly personal photos of rape survivors, Oyabu captures the pain and trauma that sexual assault survivors endure, gives voice to the voiceless, and returns the dignity taken away by violence. After appearing on the Lifetime Television network's original documentary, Fear No More: End Violence Against Women in 2002, Project STAND became a traveling exhibition. Oyabu has exhibited her work and spoke at colleges and conferences all over the U.S since 2002, and in Japan since 2006.

In 2002, Oyabu testified at the Congressional Caucus of Women's issues, exhibited her STAND at the Russell Senate Office Building in Washington DC, and served as an Honorary Board Member for the National Sexual Violence Resource Center. Appointed as a visiting faculty at Poynter Institute of Florida, she was of ten journalists to participate in a discussion about "how the media covers rape."

In 2005, Oyabu was a featured speaker at the Department of Justice Office for Victims of Crime National Public Awareness Project Conference in Washington DC, and participated in the Project's national broadcast public service announcement campaign as well. In 2008, she received the Yayori Journalism Award in Tokyo, which honors work for human rights.

Lately, Oyabu writes and photographs for Japanese publications. Her book, STAND, was published in Japan in Fall 2007, and made a topseller list in Tokyo that same year.

A BRIEF HISTORY AND INTRODUCTION TO TODAY'S ACADEMIC REGALIA

Each year soon-to-be graduates of colleges and universities across America prepare to walk across the stage, clothed in caps and gowns symbolizing the successful completion of their academic endeavors. The significance of their color, size and cut can all vary based on institution, degree, and discipline. All of the particular practices of commencement attire are the result of a rich history of practices spanning centuries.

HISTORY

Wearing of academic dress is a tradition that has been practiced for nearly seven hundred years. Subsequent centuries brought many individualized institutional changes to this apparel and by the 1890s, it was deemed time to standardize the uniform of college and university commencement garb. In 1895, the code of the Intercollegiate Commission in the United States was adopted by American colleges and universities regulating cut, style and material of gowns and hoods, along with the colors attributed to each discipline. In 1932 the American Council on Education (ACE) appointed a committee to review these guidelines, resulting in the Academic Costume Code and Ceremony Guide, adopted by the vast majority of institutions in the United States. Additional changes to this guide were made a few times during the twentieth-century with the most recent updates taking place twenty five years ago.

TODAY'S REGALIA

The regalia which you see before you today reflects the code revisions of 1986. Some innovations are specific to Columbia College Chicago's status as a fine, visual, performing and media arts institution.

The cap and gown assignments are as follows: bachelor's degree recipients wear black caps and gowns; master's degree recipients wear silver and gray caps and gowns, and will be awarded a hood as part of the ceremonial conferring of the degree while on stage.

GOWNS

Gowns recommended for use in the colleges and universities in the United States have the following characteristics. The gown for the bachelor's degree has pointed sleeves and is designed to be worn closed. The gown for the master's degree has an oblong sleeve, open at the wrist and is designed to be worn either open or closed. The gown for the doctor's degree, worn by some faculty, has bell-shaped sleeves and is designed to be worn open or closed.

Gowns for the bachelor's or master's degrees are untrimmed. Faculty with doctorate degrees wear a gown faced down the front with black velvet and three velvet bars across the sleeves. These velvet items may be in a color distinctive of the disciplines to which the degree was earned and will also match the color of the edge of the hood.

HOODS

The hood colors correspond to each of the graduate degrees offered at Columbia College Chicago:

Master of Fine Arts:	dark brown
Master of Arts:	white
Master of Arts in Teaching:	light blue
Master of Arts Management:	peacock blue

Within each hood is a satin lining representing the colors of Columbia College at the time the tradition began: periwinkle with a silver chevron placed in the center. The edging of the hood is made from velvet or velveteen, and is three inches wide for master's degree recipients with the color determined by the subject to which the degree pertains.

HEADGEAR

Mortarboard caps have attached to them either silver tassels or an honor student's gold tassel. All tassels have a Columbia College signet at the top.

Faculty with doctoral degrees wear an eight-sided velvet tam while all other faculty wear mortarboards.

MEDALLIONS

The stage party is fitted with accessories to their ceremonial garb, including medallions, and, in the President's case, a ceremonial chain.

Our President's medallion and chain is made of silver and was created by sculptor and adjunct Columbia faculty member Miklos P. Simon. It contains one large disc on the bottom with the official seal of the college. The college's motto sits atop the image with the founding year, 1890, sitting below. Smaller coins are connected to the large medallion, with eight coins each containing a portrait of one of the college's past presidents.

Trustees of the College wear a small medallion on a silver ribbon. The Chairman of the Board's medallion hangs on a gold ribbon, and the other officers of the board's medallions are hung on green ribbons.
