THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER

By Francis Scott Key

Oh, say can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there.
O say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

On the shore, dimly seen through the mists of the deep,
Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze, o'er the towering steep,
As it fitfully blows, now conceals, now discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam,
In full glory reflected now shines on the stream:
'Tis the star-spangled banner! O long may it wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

And where is that band who so vauntingly swore
That the havoc of war and the battle's confusion
A home and a country should leave us no more?
Their blood has wiped out their foul footsteps' pollution.
No refuge could save the hireling and slave
From the terror of flight, or the gloom of the grave:
And the star-spangled banner in triumph doth wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Oh! thus be it ever, when freemen shall stand
Between their loved homes and the war's desolation!
Blest with victory and peace, may the heaven-rescued land
Praise the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation.
Then conquer we must, for our cause it is just,
And this be our motto: "In God is our trust."
And the star-spangled banner forever shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!

LIFT EVERY VOICE AND SING

By James Weldon Johnson

Lift every voice and sing, till earth and Heaven ring,
Ring with the harmonies of liberty;
Let our rejoicing rise, high as the listening skies,
Let it resound loud as the rolling sea.
Sing a song full of the faith that the dark past has taught us,
Sing a song full of the hope that the present has brought us;
Facing the rising sun of our new day begun,
Let us march on till victory is won.

Stony the road we trod, bitter the chastening rod,
Felt in the days when hope unborn had died;
Yet with a steady beat, have not our weary feet,
Come to the place for which our fathers sighed?
We have come over a way that with tears has been watered,
We have come, treading our path through the blood of the slaughtered;
Out from the gloomy past, till now we stand at last
Where the white gleam of our bright star is cast.

God of our weary years, God of our silent tears,
Thou Who hast brought us thus far on the way;
Thou Who hast by Thy might, led us into the light,
Keep us forever in the path, we pray.
Lest our feet stray from the places, our God, where we met Thee.
Lest our hearts, drunk with the wine of the world, we forget Thee.
Shadowed beneath Thy hand, may we forever stand,
True to our God, true to our native land.

ALLEN AND LYNN TURNER COMMENCEMENT POETRY COMPETITION

COMFORT

In the morning, it is dark when I turn on the water. By the end of my shower, garbage men are outside. Shouting to each other. They talk of gathering. Sending parts of a feast to the edge of town. Rot, it's all piled on top of each other. Forgetting, forgetting its taste and its color.

I'm concerned that lasting comfort arrives after an ache.

I'm concerned that lasting comfort arrives after some process of dulling.

Part of me goes on a walk and part of me stays at home. The part that goes out is calmed. There isn't much sun in the apartment and the patches of it come on at strange times. Inconvenient. Activities like eating and listening do not need sunlight. Reading on the couch certainly does. Same with looking for one's keys.

Part of me sees you everywhere. The part that doesn't is in denial. Looking down as unknowns pass by in their ugly shoes. The slippers in The Wizard of Oz. Not the part where Judy Garland gets them, but the bad witch, her stockings, trapped under the house. Dorothy, don't you understand? Sometimes I want gin and something with butter. This door belongs to a sweet little house. The sweet little house has a cherry tree. Obscene. The nerve of various fruit.

Next to the house, berries are growing. They are unidentifiable and I know so little about poison. The decision not to eat them feels like giving up.

JEANNE GANG, FAIA, LEED AP

MacArthur Fellow Jeanne Gang is the founding principal of Studio Gang Architects, a Chicago-based collective of architects, designers, and thinkers practicing internationally. Jeanne uses architecture as a medium of active response to contemporary issues and their impact on human experience. Each of her projects resonates with its specific site and culture while addressing global themes such as urbanization, climate, and sustainability. Her award-winning work in Chicago includes Aqua Tower, Nature Boardwalk at Lincoln Park Zoo, the Northerly Island framework plan, the recently opened WMS Boathouse at Clark Park, and the Columbia College Chicago Media Production Center.

Since founding Studio Gang in 1997, Jeanne has won numerous honors, among them a MacArthur Fellowship, an Academy Award in Architecture from the American Academy of Arts and Letters, an Emerging Voices Award from the Architectural League of New York, and the 2013 National Design Award from the Smithsonian's Cooper-Hewitt National Design Museum. In 2009 she was named a Fellow of the American Institute of Architects. A distinguished alumna of the Harvard Graduate School of Design, Jeanne has taught at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Rice, and IIT, where her studios have focused on cities, ecologies, materials, and technologies. Reveal, her first volume on Studio Gang's work and process, was released in 2011. That same year, Jeanne self-published Reverse Effect, a collaboration with the Natural Resources Defense Council that explores a radically greener future for the Chicago River and the Great Lakes. Jeanne's work has been published and exhibited widely, most notably at the International Venice Biennale, the Museum of Modern Art, the National Building Museum, and the Art Institute of Chicago, where her firm's first solo exhibition, Building: Inside Studio Gang Architects, set record attendance during its run from September 2012 to February 2013.

To be honored Saturday, May 17, 2014, 1:30 p.m.

JIM JACOBS

Jim Jacobs is the co-creator of the hit Broadway musical Grease. Born in Chicago, Illinois, Jacobs attended Taft High School, during which time he played guitar and sang with a rock 'n' roll band called DDT & The Dynamiters. In 1963, he became involved with a local theatre group, where he met his future Grease collaborator, Warren Casey. For the next five years, he appeared in more than fifty theatrical productions in the Chicago area, working with such people as early Second City founders Paul Sills and director Sheldon Patinkin.

While he earned a living as an advertising copywriter during the day, Mr. Jacobs' Broadway acting debut was in the 1970 Pulitzer Prize-winning No Place to Be Somebody, followed by the national tour. At the same time, he and Casey had just finished collaborating on a musical about high school life during the golden age of rock 'n' roll in the 1950s. Little did Jacobs know that when Grease opened at the Kingston Mines Theatre in Chicago in 1971 that this modest, inexpensive, honest look at youth in the late 1950s would, only eight years later, become the longest-running show in Broadway history, the biggest box office movie musical of all time, and create a worldwide resurgence of interest in a decade that somehow seemed both placid and plastic.

Currently, Grease continues to break box office records with several long-running, full-scale professional productions that span the globe, including: Great Britain, Italy, Spain, Australia, Mexico (where the show is called Vaselina), Scandinavia, Czech Republic, Poland, and South Korea. Grease has spawned the careers of many stars, including John Travolta, Richard Gere, Patrick Swayze, Treat Williams, Peter Gallagher, Marilu Henner, David Paymer, Sutton Foster, and Guy Pearce, to name just a few.

Mr. Jacobs has also co-authored several other plays and musicals: Island of Lost Coeds (with Warren Casey), Bats in the Belfry, and Remember the Night (with Jim Weston). Jim currently resides in Southern California.

To be honored Saturday, May 17, 2014, 5:00 p.m.

TONY KARMAN

Tony Karman has been active in the civic, business and cultural communities of Chicago for over 30 years. Working with select institutions, associations, government organizations, producers of special events and corporations, he has guided numerous projects from concept to conclusion. Currently, he is President | Director of EXPO CHICAGO, The International Exposition of Contemporary & Modern Art at Navy Pier, September 18-21, 2014.

Originally from Rock Island, Illinois, Karman attended Augustana College and Kansas State University, where he obtained a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree. He has traveled extensively, establishing numerous professional alliances and relationships throughout the world. He is a long-time resident of Chicago, where he lives with his wife Sondra. Karman currently serves on several civic committees including the Municipal Marketing Advisory Council—City of Chicago, the Bloomingdale Trail Commissioning Committee—Department of Cultural Affairs and Special Events | Chicago Park District | The Trust for Public Land, the Cultural Tourism Commission—Choose Chicago, the Fashion Committee—School of the Art Institute, The Cooperative—Chicago Ideas Week, the Advisory Committee—Chicago International Movies and Music Festival and the National Council for Artadia: The Fund for Art and Dialogue. He also serves on several non-profit boards including Board Chairman—Chicago Artists Coalition and Redmoon.

To be honored Sunday, May 18, 2014, 11:00 a.m.
